Bailey-Barager Nuptials

Local society has never witnessed a more beautiful or impressive scene than this wedding in the Methodist Episcopal church on Thursday evening, November 7th.

It was a chrysanthemum wedding and the blossom banked the altar, combined with palms. Ropes of peppers hung from the ceiling and over arches and organ loft. Chains of smilax and white carnations swung from the chancel rail.

Marching in harmony with the low strains of Lohengrin the bridal party moved down the aisle which was marked off with white satin ribbons and plumose, twelve bridesmaids in airy white and carrying long-stemmed white chrysanthemums, leading the procession. Separating at the chancel they made way for the maid of honor, Miss Cora Ward, gowned in palest blue flowered net over silk and carrying an arm bouquet of the white blossoms. Little Gladys Remsburg in white embroidery and carrying a basket of the same white flowers, preceded the bride, who was attired in white silk with long train, enveloped in the filmy mist of her veil and carrying a shower of white blossoms. Kenneth Barager, her brother, as best man, awaited at the altar beside the groom, who watched the bride as she came slowly down the aisle and met him at the altar rail.

Rev. N. J. Burton read the impressive service uniting Aimee Winifred Barager add Charles Edward Bailey in holy wedlock.

The bride, who is one of the most popular of Glendale's social favorites, is only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Barager of Cedar street, well-known and highly-respected residents of our city. Charles Edward Bailey, formerly of Michigan, has lately lived in Tropic, where he is well and favorably known. He is a member of Glendale M. E. church and is a graduate of Oberlin.

The twelve bridesmaids are all well known socially and were favorites of the bride. They were the Misses Evelyn Ryan, Anna Woodberry, May Fanset, Pearl Goode, Ann Grant, Florence Ward, Grace Barager, Nettie Watson, Nellie Bowman, Mary Tarr, Blanche Tarr, Ethel Nelson.

After congratulations, the happy couple departed for Rosemond, Cal.

The church decorations were in the hands of Mrs. Stone, and Mrs. C. E. Russell had charge of the church arrangements. Nearly three hundred invitations were issued.

The New Railroad

The bonus money is being paid into the Bank of Glendale, with every prospect of all being paid up within 30 days. The committee is still wrestling with some right of way details which will necessitate the securing of a few hundred dollars more.

It is to be hoped that the work of the committee in this direction will be rendered easy by prompt response to their appeals.

There is no reason to believe that there will be any delay on the part of the railroad people. Their surveyors have been at work this week setting stakes along Verdugo Road, so that all preliminaries will be arranged for the beginning of the work of grading for the track.

President of the Trust Company of America in New York City announces that during two weeks' run on that institution it paid out $34,000,000 over the counter.

Anderson-Carr

At the Methodist church on Thursday evening, November 7th, the wedding of Mr. Alfred Anderson of Pasadena and Miss Emma Carr of Los Angeles was solemnized.

To the strains of Lohengrin the bridal party wended its way to the altar, the bridesmaids, Miss Ethel Nelson and Miss Nettie Watson, carrying arm bouquets of pink roses were followed by Miss Alice Watson attired in shimmering silk of pale blue and carrying roses and maiden-hair fern. Then came tiny three-year-old Lucile Nelson in pale blue, wearing a wreath of marguerites and strewing pink rose petals along the way over which came the fair bride, lovely in white messaline and flowing veil, fastened with orange blossoms.

Rev. N. J. Burton read the Methodist Episcopal service. Mr. Jack Peebles, of Los Angeles, acted as best man.

Later there followed congratulations and a reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Watson, where the parlor were done in a floral scheme of red and green and the dining-room in pink and white combined with green. A feature of the wedding supper was the bride's cake, bearing the same beautiful decorations used by her mother twenty-five years ago.

In a few days Mr. and Mrs. Anderson will be at home to friends in Los Angeles.

Union High School Notice

As it is absolutely necessary to have additional room for the accommodation of the students of Glendale Union High School District before another school year, the clerk of the Board of Trustees has been instructed to post notices calling a meeting of the voters of said district for the purpose of discussing the question as to whether a new building shall be constructed or an addition be made to the old one. Such meeting will be held

IN THE SCHOOL BUILDING, COR. OF FOURTH STREET AND BRAND BOULEVARD, IN THE CITY OF GLENDALE, ON SATURDAY EVENING, NOVEMBER 9, AT 7:30.

It is important that the voters in each district interested in the High School be present, as this meeting will have power to instruct the Board to call an election to issue bonds for the above named purpose.

E. D. GOODE, Clerk.

Ladies' Aid Society

The members of the Ladies' Aid Society of the First Presbyterian church held an all-day meeting on Friday at the manse. A basket lunch provided refreshment at the noon hour and hot tea was served. The ladies are very busy completing plans for the bazaar which will be held at a near date and will include a delicatessen department, a candy booth and a fancy-work counter. The work is under the direction of the president of the society, Mrs. Daniel Campbell.

Patents Granted

The Schwemer brothers have received word from the patent office at Washington that their improved awning has been granted patents as applied for. This is a very ingenious arrangement which promises to supercede all other outside window shades and awnings, and we congratulate the young men on their success.

MUNICIPALITIES' CONVENTION AT PASADENA.

From that interesting publication, "Pacific Municipalities," interesting to all who take an interest in public work, we make the following notes of the Program of the Tenth Annual Convention of the League of California Municipalities, at Pasadena, Nov. 12 to 15, inclusive:

On Tuesday, the 12th, at 2 p. m., there will be an address of welcome by Mayor Early, responded to by Mayor Turner, of Merced, president of the league. After reports there will be a report of the committee on legislation by the Hon. N. W. Thompson, of Alhambra, followed by papers on "The Cash Basis System of San Jose," "The Non-Partisan Elections of Fresno," "The Civil Service System of Los Angeles," "The Recall at San Bernardino," "Direct Legislation in San Francisco," and a debate. Wednesday evening there will be an address on the planting and care of trees, by Forster Harper, of Los Angeles. Thursday evening there will be a discussion on revenue and taxation and a representative of the Library Association will tell what libraries can do to assist municipal officers and reports will be received on the disposal of garbage. On Wednesday and Thursday morning, "Street Grades, Cement Streets, and Reports as to Various Kinds of Pavements" will be heard, and discussion on the subject, "Who Owns the Streets." The legal department of the league will discuss many important subjects. Municipal ownership and other questions of interest will be debated. Clerks, auditors and assessors will have a portion of the time allotted to the discussion of matters concerning their departments, and in brief the whole business of municipalities will be discussed by experts and others.

GAS.

A forenoon run through Glendale reveals the following condition as to prospective gas supply. The Southern California Gas Circuit Co. has between three and four miles of gas pipe laid. The mains extend at right angles from one city limit to the other, and the completed system will also supply the Casa Verdugo tract. Wherever possible the mains have been laid through alleys, avoiding the tearing up of streets. Residents of Glendale hold stock to the amount of $40,000, and this subscription has already been more than returned to the city as a whole by the increased value of property within reach of the supply. The actual putting in of pipes has also stimulated the realty market. Secretary Mock of the company says that in covering other territory, while local men will be put in the board of directors, the policy will be rather to interest consumers directly to the extent of one or two shares at $10 each, to a family. In this way it is hoped to make the enterprise a home institution rather than an investment of a few large holders. The company seems to have the full confidence of citizens and trustees in Glendale and its influence thus far has been good for the town.—Hollywood Citizen.

Bank Meeting

At the last monthly meeting of the directors of the Bank of Glendale, the usual four per cent dividend was declared and reports made showing everything in a prosperous condition. The bank commissioner has recently visited this institution and made a very commendatory report.

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

Local option makes gains in Illinois. Anti-Mormon candidate elected mayor of Salt Lake.

Eight troops of cavalry after Ute Indians in South Dakota. Indians threatening and a winter's campaign possible.

Money stringency in the East being rapidly relieved. Trust companies in New York are hereafter to operate together for mutual protection.

Steamship Kronprinzessin Cecilie arrives in New York with first consignment of gold from Europe. Lusitania and others due this week bring more.

Telegraphers' strike officially called off. Been on since August 7th and is a complete failure. Only a portion of operators will be taken back at present.

Election results: Tammany wins in New York City against Fusionists, electing sheriff and judges. Mayor Johnson re-elected in Cleveland. Taylor and Langdon elected in San Francisco. Republicans elect governor and others in Kentucky and New Jersey.

THE NEW STEAM LAUNDRY.

A reporter visited the new steam laundry of Messrs. Albright and Andrews this week and finds that establishment about ready to begin operations. In fact, the machinery is all in place; connections made for water, gas and electricity, and experimental runs have been successfully made. Power is furnished by a 30-horse power engine which moves all the machinery, including a dynamo that supplies the electricity for the electric irons and for lights. The machinery is of the most approved patterns and is similar to that used in the Troy system of laundries elsewhere. An experienced foreman has been engaged and the proprietors have a reasonable expectation of their venture proving a success from the start.

Miss Bertha Patterson Honored

On Wednesday evening at the Presbyterian manse, Miss Irene Ward entertained informally in honor of Miss Bertha Patterson, who in a few days will become the bride of Mr. Charles Hezmalbach. The wedding will be of much interest to local society as the young couple are well known and are general favorites. The manse was beautiful with flowers and dainty refreshments were served.

CITY TRUSTEES.

Owing to the holidays that are being observed, the trustees held only an informal meeting on Wednesday evening. Petitions are on file requesting that the name of Seventh street be changed to Lomita avenue; also that an ordinance be framed and adopted regulating the planting, trimming and care of trees on the public streets. Favorable action will probably be taken in regard to both of these matters at the next regular meeting.

BIRTHDAY PARTY.

An informal birthday party, in honor of Mrs. S. M. Galloway, was held at the residence of her sister, Mrs. Harris, on Third street, on Thursday evening. The guests consisted of Mrs. Galloway's sisters, Mrs. E. T. Byram, Mrs. Elias Ayers and their families, and the occasion was none the less thoroughly enjoyed because it was rather impromptu.

About Dish Washing

In New York the other day, Mrs. Harry R. Luckoch charged her husband with having struck her during a quarrel over the question as to whose duty it was to wash the dishes.

The learned judge gave a clear-cut decision to the effect, first, that it is every husband's duty to wash the dishes if need be; second, that he is justified in refusing to perform this duty if the wife "cumulates" them, (that is, piles them up on him from one meal to another while she loafs).

This is important, and we commend its fairness to those husbands who are downtrodden and oppressed. Hereafter in every well regulated family the husband will wash dishes dutifully, but remembering that while the decision of the judge does not seem to cover the point, it is not considered to be in accordance with Chesterfieldian etiquette for a man to strike his wife.

Nature Faking in the School

Mrs. McClintock, one of the faculty of the University of Chicago, has expressed herself in pretty strong language against the "Nature Faking" in vogue to some extent in the schools where there is a class of literature intended to teach facts by means of fiction. The particular object of her criticism is the fable in which inanimate things are endowed with personal attributes to form a supposed-to-be interesting story.

Without objecting to the proper use of fiction, it must be at the same time admitted that the youthful mind is compelled in the stern process of contact with the world to get rid of a vast quantity of chaff which it has accumulated in the gleaming years of childhood.

The particular instance quoted by Miss McClintock is the "Story of the Dandelion," in which the inanimate seeds are clothed with human faculties, endowed with human virtues and vices and have thrilling experiences supposed to be attractive to the youthful mind.

Rumor

Our own town is no worse than any other, in fact, it averages up well in every way; but there is in every community an element of the population that is never quite so happy as when engaged in spreading the news of some imagined scandal or calamity. They are not necessarily evil disposed people; they are only thoughtless as a rule and do not realize the harm that may result under some circumstances from exaggerated and baseless reports.

This is especially the case in a time like the present, when there is a spirit of uncertainty in the air and people are watching to see what their neighbors do and all on the lookout for the slightest symptom of danger in regard to matters financial.

In the rare cases where there have been serious runs on banking concerns during the recent period of financial excitement, the trouble was due to those same meddlers who wickedly or foolishly spread the rumors of disaster. Banks have been compelled to close their doors not for lack of funds, but because of the fever of panic in the minds of their depositors, for human beings are poor things at times and in time of panic are well likened to the unreasoning sheep that blindly follow the leader, whether into a port of safety or into the jaws of danger.

Usually these rumors of evil are unreasonable in their nature; they are not plausible even, and should deceive no one. But the fact remains that they are accepted as gospel truth by the unreasoning, sensation loving public, and they go on their way until their course of evil is run. It has been so from the beginning, is now, and we fear ever shall be.

But oh for a lock upon the lips of evil and a gag in the mouth of the foolish!

The Financial Situation

From all over the country come reports of the gradual return of confidence. The arrival of large imports of gold from Europe, representing drafts made upon the amounts due as a balance of trade in our favor, has helped the situation in New York. The continuation of the holidays by governor's proclamation from day to day in this state proves embarrassing in some lines of business, particularly in regard to the courts, which are not open, but otherwise business goes on the same. Banks remain open and receive and pay out money as usual, with the innovation in Los Angeles which has been introduced by the clearing house. This is the plan by which the banks are refusing to pay out cash in excess of $100 in each case. Persons desiring more than this amount of their deposits are given the excess in certified or cashier's checks, which answer all the ordinary purposes of cash. This plan seems to be working well and no doubt discourages the hoarding of money. It also assures the small depositor that his funds are safe, for the plan puts him the more nearly on an equality with the depositor who has thousands in the same institution. Savings banks are generally availing themselves of the ninety days or six months notice clause in their agreement with depositors.

On the whole, such a thing as a successful "run" on any banking concern here, is an impossibility. The banks in Los Angeles are gaining constantly on their money supply and the country banks, owing to their conservative action, are also adding to their store of available funds.

Meanwhile houses are being built, farming operations are going on, merchants are selling goods and people are paying for them: "All is well in the world."

A reference which we recently made to socialism in these columns is resented by some of our friends who believe in that doctrine. They assert that we "know nothing about the subject." If this means that we have not lived in the atmosphere or steeped ourselves in socialistic literature, we shall have to plead guilty.

That the people who have a natural sympathy for socialistic ideas and have filled themselves with the literature of the theory to a point of indignation, are the only ones capable of having an intelligent opinion on the subject, we must strenuously deny.

The person with a natural leaning towards a particular view of any subject and who takes up a course of reading prepared by its propagandists, is not likely to come out of the course any better prepared to form an independent opinion.

We have no doubt but that the theory of socialism as understood by many intelligent people is beautiful in the abstract. It must be so because we know some of its disciples who are intelligent, patriotic and good citizens generally. Probably our only real difference with such citizens is in regard to the practicability of their belief, the feasibility of its application to the government of a set of beings whose natural and predominant impulse is selfishness. But we do not wish to enter into a discussion of this phase of the subject now; the point we would emphasize is this: the beneficent theory of the intelligent, patriotic socialist is not, we believe, the theory which inspires the large majority of its votaries to support socialism at the polls. And we claim that this view is justified by the indisputable fact that socialism as preached on the street corners and as set forth in such sheets as the "Appeal to Reason," is neither patriotic nor beneficent.

The people who do not read socialistic volumes are justified in passing judgment upon the theory as they become acquainted with its fruits. The dilettante socialist who pores over the volumes of Karl Marx, Engels and their more modern imitators, in his pleasant library and who does not mix with the element that does the most of the voting for his party, is not the leader in applied socialism.

We have become so familiar with "the crimes of capital," "the capitalistic classes," "the bloated aristocrats," and such other set phrases in favor with popular socialistic organs, that it is idle to say that socialism does not appeal to class prejudice, if these are its exponents. And yet these representatives of the cult are not consistent even in this, for they are willing to make exceptions at any time apparently in favor of any rich demagogue such as Wm. Randolph Hearst or Henry Gaylord Wilshire, when the latter declare themselves socialists.

When we find that the wrongdoer is condemned with equal vigor in the columns of the socialistic press, whether he is rich or poor, an employer or an employee, a capitalist or a "laborer," and when the street orator no longer plays upon the prejudices of his auditors by denunciation of the rich, we shall be able to believe, as we are not now, that socialism is a power for good.

TREE PLANTING.

The following are extracts from a paper read by Ernest Branton at a meeting of the Hollywood Civic Section of the Woman's Club, recently:

As a rule street trees are planted too thickly, so that individual beauty and character is soon lost through inter-lacing or over-lapping of the branches. Where this is done there is a sufficient excuse for demanding mixed plantings so that one may be able to note a change in color and form, for a solid mass of foliage is but little more interesting than a brick or stone wall. Each tree should be outlined against the sky or background so that beauty of form, carriage, color, leaf and blossom may be seen and alternating glimpses be given of the surrounding landscape or the distant prospect of earth, sea or sky.

It must be plainly evident from the foregoing that the only effective means of securing uniform planting is by zealous, well-directed co-operation which in its final analysis means organization. In the case of a municipality it is doubtless best to pass a compulsory street tree ordinance providing that within a specified time all streets shall be planted, allowing the owners upon each street to petition for the use of their favorite tree and designation by the city council of an official tree for each street, after which time no other tree shall be planted thereon. This is a working of the will of the majority or greatest good to the greatest number and is the only way in which the non-resident owner may be brought to terms, for all unplanted frontage remaining at the expiration of the stated term shall be planted by the city and the expense added to the city taxes. The validity of this ordinance has been upheld by the courts and has proven eminently satisfactory wherever tried.

It will be necessary that some few should yield graciously to the wishes of the many if uniform and satisfactory results are to be attained. This spirit of co-operation should extend to digging the holes, buying and planting the trees and perhaps to the first year's care. All these items may be covered at a less expense collectively than is possible as individuals and the results will be far more satisfactory to each and all.

Unless the soil is of excellent character and considerable depth much care should be given in preparation. Holes should be dug at least three feet square and of like depth and some richness added in the way of most thoroughly rotted stable manure. If there is any choice of soil the best should be placed in the bottom of the holes, for the top can be easily enriched at any time. Moreover, the tree finding the soil better as it sends its feelers down will develop a strong, well-distributed root system which will sustain it through protracted drouth or any of the subsequent trials with which all vegetable life generally meets at some period of its existence. It is best to choose young stock rather than larger trees which have been crippled by growing for years in pot or can. Of course, frequent and copious waterings should be given, especially during the first year.

OUTDOOR WORK FOR NOVEMBER.

The early rainfall accompanied and followed by warm weather, has started in the present "wet" season almost two months earlier than usual. It has only been occasionally in years past that the hills were green by December 1st, and this condition now exists thirty days ahead of the record. Successful farming in California, as far as non-irrigated crops is concerned, depends very largely upon the weather conditions, and even the farmer is hardly rash enough to essay the role of weather prophet and advise his neighbors just when to sow their grain and plant their crops generally. There is a possibility that we may have little or no more rain until Christmas and yet the probabilities favor a succession of rains at sufficiently frequent intervals to assure continued moisture. If we could be assured of this, and that the rains would continue into the spring months as late as usual, it would be unwise to sow grain before New Years. In any event a month from now will be early enough to put in the main barley crop. Small farmers keeping a cow and a horse and having no alfalfa patch to depend on, should sow as soon as possible a small patch of barley to provide green feed during the winter.

Speaking of alfalfa, it should not be sowed until danger from frost is over, which will not be until March, in localities subject to frost as are the lower portions of this and the other valleys of California.

The early rain and continued warm weather should not be allowed to lure one into the error of planting in forgetfulness of cold weather to come. There are a few comparatively frostless sections in this neighborhood, but not many, and it should be borne in mind that at the best vegetation grows but slowly in the winter season. Peas may be planted now with a reasonable hope of producing a crop. Frost will not injure the vines, but is liable to catch the blossoms. Turnips and radishes are the easy crops, lettuce is also a pretty sure thing. Carrots and beets can be planted for early use next spring and summer. Cabbage may do well, their growth depending on the weather. Onion seed may be sowed and the plants thinned out in the spring for a crop. Onion sets planted in the fall do not make much else than tops. The ground should be turned up now while the soil is in good condition, thus putting it in better shape to hold the rain that will fall, keeping down the weeds and making a second plowing easy.

As a general thing the ground is not plowed as often as it should be, nor as deep. More work put upon the soil before planting crops will save a great deal of labor afterwards and result in a much better yield of produce. Young trees susceptible to frost, may be protected by a slight covering of corn-stocks or gunny sacks placed around them on a lath frame, and this should not be delayed, although the present temperature may be more suggestive of summer than of frosty nights.

MISS SHROPSHIRE ENTERTAINS.

An original party which was most thoroughly enjoyed was that given on Saturday evening by Miss Birdie Shropshire, in her pretty home, corner Fifth and Everett streets. The rooms were beautiful with quantities of autumn blossoms and greenery. Games and music furnished much of the amusement. A feature of the fine supper served was the taper-lighted cake containing genuine surprises. Miss Berenice Williams drew a gold ring, Miss Fenset a mammoth darning needle, Howard Lennox a dime and Kenneth Barager a button, all of which signified certain meanings to the partakers of the cake.

Among the invited were Albert Stevenson, Will Swan, Percy Tyler and Vern Tyler, of Los Angeles, and Howard Lennox, Harry N. ### Some of Glendale's Recent Acquisitions

There was a large party of relatives at the station Tuesday evening to give Mr. and Mrs. Jesse C. Connor who were leaving for their new home in Glendale, Calif., a word of cheer and wish them a pleasant journey. Mr. Connor is a native of this town where he has passed all of his life and been most successful financially. He has been prominently identified with the Free Baptist church and the upbuilding of Maine Central Institute and has always been foremost in working for interests to benefit the town.

While their many friends regret their departure they all unite in wishing them much happiness in their new home. They were accompanied by Mrs. Crocker of Old Town, who expects to remain in their home with them during the next year.—Pittsfield (Me.) Advertiser.

Mr. and Mrs. Connor are located on the old Kanouse place, corner of Sixth and Adams street.

FOR SALE—One covered Studbaker Buggy and Buff Leghorn and White Plymouth Rock chickens. Call H. E. Colby, Chestnut street and Brand Boulevard.

MISS WARD ENTERTAINS MISS BARAGER.

On Monday evening Miss Cora Ward entertained in honor of Miss Aimee Barager, at her home on I street. The floral decorations, under the skilled hands of Mrs. Stone, converted the pretty home into a bower. A bank of chrysanthemums almost hid the piano, which was put to good use during the evening. One corner, a lover's nook, was built with English ivy, and over the table, where an exquisite repast was served, hung a bell canopy made of peppers and autumn flowers, from the center of which hung a most artistically arranged floral basket.

During a game of charades a gaily decorated basket was brought and set before the bride-to-be, it being her turn to guess. The basket contained cut glass, hand-painted china, fine linen, a silk kimona and various other beautiful gifts, among them a point lace handkerchief. The whole affair was planned as a happy surprise for the honoree.

Rev. Robt. McIntyre, D. D., the popular pastor of First Methodist-Episcopal church, Los Angeles, made a hurried visit to Glendale a few days since to see his friend and former Rock River Conference colleague, Rev. C. W. Crall, on Cedar street. Dr. McIntyre was elected to lead the ministerial delegation of the Southern California conference to the general conference to be held at Baltimore next May. An act which conferred great honor upon the church and one of its greatest preachers.

Rev. M. U. Plumb, of Garvanza, was also a welcome visitor this week at Mr. Crall's. All three of these gentlemen were members of the Rock River Conference at the same time.

Mrs. F. M. McQuilkin, of Chicago, Illinois, is a recent arrival in Glendale and is the guest of her brother, Rev. C. W. Crall, 224 Cedar street. This is Mrs. McQuilkin's first visit to California, and she expresses herself as being charmed with everything she sees. She thinks California is all right. So say we all.

Mrs. Dan Campbell will have charge of the Ladies' Aid Novelty Sale. Candy counter, Novelty counter, Delicatessen.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Ward are at their home on Fourth street near Verdugo Road after spending the summer at their old home in Sherbrook, Province of Quebec, Canada. They say that in the week that has passed since their return, they have experienced more pleasant weather than they encountered during the whole summer. Rain has fallen with unusual frequency throughout that portion of the East during the past summer and cold weather had set in when they left. Their party on the return to California consisted of fourteen adults and three children, the majority of whom will probably remain in Glendale. A brother-in-law of Mrs. Ward, who came through this week, goes to Venice, to take a position in the new shoe factory there. Mr. Addison, one of the party, secured a position in Los Angeles three days after his arrival.

Hunting and fishing are good in the neighborhood of Sherbrook, and Mr. Ward reports an enjoyable summer notwithstanding the weather.

"Y" Notes

The "Y" met at the home of Mrs. Elias Ayers, Monday evening, November, 4th. Twelve new members have signed the pledge, seven of which were present. Four honorary members have joined and we hope more will join. After the regular routine of business the meeting adjourned, and spent a very pleasant social hour. The "Y" will meet again Monday, November, 18th, at the home of Mrs. Harn on Cedar street, near Third. Every one cordially invited.

REAL ESTATE AND BUILDING NOTES.

Joseph M. Banker has a contract to erect for Mr. N. F. Reynolds on Third street, east of B, an up-to-date cottage of the bungalow type, 36 feet front and 28 feet deep. It will have a cellar and a concrete foundation, beam porch, gable roof, overhanging cornice, etc., and will consist of five rooms. The frame work is already in place.

On Lomita avenue, east of Louise street, Mr. C. Hilding is building a seven-room residence that will cost about $2000.

On the lot adjoining Mrs. Doffmeyer is having built a five-room modern cottage which will cost about $1700.

North of the West Glendale school house, a section neglected until recently, in the march of improvements, there is great activity. Six houses are now in process of erection and four more are under contract. The most of them are being built for Mr. Beale of Los Angeles, who is sparing no effort necessary to build up that section. The recent decrease in the price of lumber is assisting in the work of building, to some extent, and the prospect is excellent for a record breaking winter.

Joseph Stringer has started the foundation of his home on Adams street, near Fourth. It will be a five-room up-to-date cottage.

L. A. Jones has sold a lot on Fifth street in the Orange Grove Tract to Mr. G. A. Baker.

The Rev. Geo. Soltan, of London, Eng., will be in Glendale for the week commencing Sabbath, Nov. 10th. The services which he will conduct during the week will be a rich feast which no one should miss if possible to be present. He is a Bible scholar of wide renown and deep spirituality.

The following is a program of the services: Sunday, Nov. 10, 11 a. m., at the Presbyterian church, "Image Making," 7:30 a. m., at the M. E. church, "Sunset and Sunrise," Monday, 7:30, at the Presbyterian church, "The Twofold Gift of God," Tuesday, 7:30, at the Presbyterian church, "Life and Life Abundantly," Thursday, 7:30, at the M. E. church, "The Endowment of Power," Friday, 7:30, at the M. E. church, "The Position in the Life Beyond," Sunday, Nov. 17, topics and plans to be announced later.

The public is cordially invited to be present at any or all of these services. Come and increase your zeal for the best that life offers.

Just wait till the 23d. Don't buy any candy or novelties, or anything to eat, till it happens.

AFTERNOON AT "BETH-EDEN."

One of the most delightful week-end social functions was the pleasant afternoon Miss Harriet Meyers, afforded a number of her friends, Friday, with an informal at home at Beth-Eden. The hours were pleasantly spent arranging gay pretty pages for scrap books which later will find their way into one of the orphans' homes in Los Angeles.

A large Halloween cake afforded much pleasure, as it contained a number of unique favors, the darky doll falling to the lot of Miss Maude Moore; little brown jug, Mrs. H. J. Kapus; tiny bottle, Mrs. Andrew Stephenson; small ring, Miss Lila Webster; darning needle, Mrs. John Logan. Miss Meyers' guests included Mmes. W. H. Bullis, A. W. Collins, Charles Mcser, John Hobbs, H. J. Kapus, Andrew Stephenson, Joseph H. Webster, E. J. Morgan, W. A. Thompson, John A. Logan, Miss Maude Moore, Miss Frances Erskine, Miss Millie Heald.

MISS RICHARDSON AT STANFORD.

A few days since a goodly sized box was shipped from Tropico to Miss Eula Richardson, who is matriculated at Stanford. This box contained many good as well as substantial remembrances for the fair recipient, among which was a large birthday cake, for the most of the sending of this box was the anniversary of Miss Richardson's birth. This cake was baked by Mrs. H. N. Jarvis, of Los Angeles. A large box of candles from Mrs. Mary Thompson, of Los Angeles, and a fine bouquet of fragrant blossoms from Mrs. John Hodgson, at "The Lillacs." Two handsome tailored gowns, sent by Mrs. E. W. Richardson.

Upon receipt of the box Miss Richardson's classmates assembled and with other dainty refreshments furnished, assisted in celebrating Eula's natal anniversary most royally.

THEATER PARTY.

BIRTHDAY ANNIVERSARY.

A very pleasant little social affair on Tuesday afternoon was the double birthday party given at the home of Mrs. Gibson, B street, by Mrs. Eugene Pitcher, in honor of her son Anson, and Mrs. Gibson, in honor of her daughter Dorothy, this being the eleventh birth anniversary of the honoree's. Most beautiful were the elaborate decorations of chrysanthemums and other flowers, which a most abundant spread was arranged on the pretty tables, where wonderful birthday-cakes were surrounded by eleven lighted tapers each. The happy little guests numbered twenty-six. The hours were from three to six.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVORS ENTERTAIN.

The Christian Endeavor Society, of the First Presbyterian church, gave a Halloween party at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Collins on Brand boulevard, Friday evening. A large party responded to the invitation of these young enthusiastic church workers. The program was in charge of Miss Thirza Snell.

The decorations throughout the Collins residence were suggestive of the Halloween season. The refreshments consisted of pumpkin pie and coffee.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

In connection with the meeting at the High School building tonight, here are some statistics showing the conditions in other High School districts:

District	Valuation	Rate
Alhambra	$ 2,710,686	44c
Compton Union	1,378,337	99c
Covina City	1,021,394	78c
El Monte Union	1,489,803	40c
Glendale Union	3,917,471	31c
Hollywood Union	10,752,085	20c
Long Beach City	18,507,169	22c
Monrovia City	1,438,135	1.00
Redondo Union	2,276,418	36c
San Fernando Union	1,890,485	75c
San Pedro City	7,000,000	47c
South Pasadena City	3,047,355	47c
Whittier Union	3,594,450	50c
Wilmington Union	2,419,046	25c

The assessment for this district for the years 1904-5 was only $1,616,501 and the rate was 49 cents.

The assessment this year is distributed among the Grammar School districts, comprising the Union High School districts as follows:

Glendale City	$1,203,071
Tropico	934,881
Fagle Rock	394,611
Burbank	556,451
West Glendale	539,161
Ivanho	196,631
Crescenta	92,050

Of course, it follows that the rate decreases as the assessed values increase, and all of the districts in the Union district are increasing very rapidly in value. Glendale valuations last year were $798,536. Alhambra and South Pasadena have particularly fine buildings, the one at South Pasadena having cost over $90,000. Even San Fernando has expended over $25,000 on its High School building.

At the regular meeting of the Los Angeles County league held on Monday, the protest entered by Polytechnic against Glendale in regard to the recent basketball game, was decided in favor of Glendale. The Polytechnic team had claimed that they did not get a square deal by the officials, who were Glendale graduates.

The Glendale basketball five will play Alhambra's fast team on the home grounds Saturday afternoon.

The Alhambra team on Monday defeated the chesty Polys by a score of 30 to 18.

The officials of the County League are starting a brisk campaign for clear high school athletics, and Saturday council will meet at 10:30 in the Chamber of Commerce building. The council is composed of two representatives from every school in the league.

Invitation has been received from Claremont inviting racquet welders to the tennis tournament given by Pomona college, to take place on Nov. 25th. All friends of the game are invited.

The U. S. C. College of Law, under Earl Newmire, has organized a strong team of which Ray Goode, a former Glendale graduate, is on as forward. They propose to negotiate with a number of high schools for games, among them Glendale.

HOME TEAM WINS.

Last Saturday the Glendale basketball five defeated on the home grounds the San Pedro team, by a score of 49 to 22.

Sprinkle and Emory as forwards, put up some star playing, each making nine baskets. Taylor as center usually got the ball on the toss-up, while Goodsell and Stine showed such marvelous guarding that the visiting team showed discouragement. It would have been well had a goodly company of rooters accompanied them, to compete with the undeniable enthusiasm aroused by the rooters for the home team.

The line-up was as follows:

San Pedro	Glendale
Rider	Forward
Martin	Forward
Hipple	Center
Duncan	Guard
Phillips	Guard
Foot (sub.)	Goodsell
	Benson (sub.)

Bulletin of Progress

One year and a half has passed since San Francisco was devastated by fire. During those eighteen months the progress toward complete recovery has been marvelous, and while there is not such feverish activity as marked the first twelve months, work is progressing at a rate unsurpassed in any other city, except New York and Chicago. The estimated value of the buildings for which permits have been asked since the fire totals the enormous sum of $100,000,000. Of this amount $30,000,000 is represented by the permits during the past six months. Careful estimates regarding cash expended for rehabilitation and reconstruction show that figure to have reached the total of $136,000,000 since the fire. That business has been on a sound basis is shown by the total of bank clearings during the eighteen months, which has amounted to more than two and a half billion dollars.

During the month considerable money has been brought to San Francisco from the interior of the state for investment. Financial conditions throughout California have very good owing to heavy crops and high prices, and as a result the interior has been of material assistance in rebuilding operations in the metropolis. The financial crisis in the east has had no material effect on California conditions.

Great activity is shown in all parts of the state in electric power development. Reports from all interior cities to the California Promotion Committee show greatly increased activity in all lines of business.

The following summary shows California conditions for the month, from September 29 to October 23, inclusive: San Francisco building permits, $1,311,886.

San Francisco building permits since the fire, $87,147,363.

Los Angeles building permits, $926,370.00.

Oakland building permits, $648,593.75.

Sacramento building permits, $129,514.00.

San Francisco real estate sales, $50; value, $2,000,000.

San Francisco bank clearings, $189,551,793.30.

San Francisco bank clearings, October, 1906, $189,906,596.05.

San Francisco bank clearings, October, 1905, $169,259,519.64.

Los Angeles bank clearings, $47,384,042.

Oakland bank clearings $10,769,663.23.

San Jose bank clearings, $2,789,242.94.

Stockton bank clearings, $2,766,733.23.

San Francisco customs receipts, $616,749.71.
